Before the train started several of those who had been robbing showed money they had saved out of the hold-up, having it hidden in their shoes and other places, having been warned by relatives that they might be robbed.

Among those who lost their money were several women, to whose heads the robbers had placed the cold muzzles of their revolvers and forced them to produce the money they had concealed.

MADRIZ WOULD BE FORCIBLY OUSTED

over the character of the gunboat Venus, which was publicly purchased in the United States for the titular government of Nicaragua. If she is operating unlawfully she may be seized as a pirate. As she has not been seized it must be presumed that she is operating entirely within the law, and she should not have been driven away from Bluefields by the American commander.

"All of the official acts of President Madriz, since he assumed office in December, have stamped the lie upon the civil reports issued from insurgent sources that he is not sympathetic towards the United States and American interests in Nicaragua.

"President Madriz has neither sympathy for nor affiliation with former President Zelaya. The insurrection was begun to oust Zelaya. In this it has been eminently successful. It has now dwindled to little more than 1 per cent. of the population, and if the State Department will diligently observe international obligation due to a friendly state it will soon be suppressed, with due care for the preservation of American lives and property."

Protests against the murder by the revolutionists of Chicow, a Chinese merchant at San Pedro del Norte, has been made by the Chinese residents of Nicaragua to the representatives here of their government. Chong Sing, who was Chicow's business partner, announced the murder in a letter to a friend in this country and has filed an individual protest. He says the murder was committed by Agabito Gonzales, a captain of the revolutionists, and that the latter claims all his stores at San Pedro del Norte.

Will Resume Trade.

New Orleans, La., July 23.—Trade between American ports and Bluefields, Nicaragua, is to be resumed as of today. The American State Department in declaring Bluefields an open port. It was announced to-night that the steamers Imperator and Dictator would sail to-morrow morning. The Imperator is carrying 100 tons of Bluefields via Cape Gracia, with a miscellaneous cargo.

The Dictator, in ballast, goes direct to Bluefields for a cargo of bananas. Following the receipt to-day of the statement given out by the Foreign Office at Christiania, Norway, local steamship agents received cable messages from Norwegian owners agreeing to permit the sailing to Bluefields of steamers which have been tied up here since Norway declared its recognition of the so-called blockade of the Madriz government against the port and principal stronghold of the Nicaraguan insurgents.

The only ships which have been available for Bluefields have been of Norwegian register. It was reported that in the event that no ships could be secured the insurgents would utilize the converted yacht Hornet, recently seized by the Federal government to a local shipyard, and now on the way from Norfolk to New Orleans. This would have served to keep the insurgents in bread and butter, at least for a time, but it would have seriously interfered with the plans the insurgents are said to have in connection with pitting the Hornet against the Madriz gunboat Venus. Consequently, when it became known to-night that the blockade would not be observed there was much joy in the local insurgent camp.

COLONEL MAY FLY

Harmon Wants Him to Go Up in His Aeroplane.

New York, July 23.—When Theodore Roosevelt had a chance to dive below the sea in a submarine he jumped at it, now he has an invitation to skim the earth in an aeroplane.

Clifford B. Hickson, the wealthy amateur who makes daily practice flights at Mineola, L. I., said to-night that Colonel Roosevelt is expected at Mineola on August 19 to lay a cornerstone that is being generally understood to be a monument to the late General Heath to watch the flying, and that he was sure of an invitation to go up if he wished to try the sensation.

No Trace Found.

Hullfax, N. S., July 23.—Acting on a telegram from Scotland Yard, Halifax detectives searched the Nova Scotia Transport Line steamer Uranium before she docked here to-night in the search for Crispin, but no trace of the missing dentist or his traveling companion, Miss Leneve, was found.

FELL FROM TRAIN; PICKED UP ALIVE

Special Sent Out to Find Body Returns With Jennings Smiling.

While dancing with several companions in the baggage car of the Twilight Special, of the Southern Railway, returning last night from West Point, W. H. Jennings, a machinist, pitched headfirst from the baggage car door, and, though found safe and sound, his fall caused much disturbance and excitement for the time being.

When Jennings's companions saw him fall from the car word was immediately sent forward, and J. M. Gudspeh, trainmaster, who happened to be on the excursion train, was notified. It was impossible to stop the train then, for a second section was traveling close behind, and collision between the two trains would have been unavoidable if the first section had slowed down.

The train was traveling at a speed of forty miles an hour, and the engineer put on a little more steam so as to arrive in Richmond as fast as possible and send back a relief train.

Sent Out a Special.

Immediately upon arriving Mr. Hudspeth ordered that a special, consisting of engine and one coach, be sent up to go back and look for the man. The special left the Southern Depot at 11:40, and returned with a very much alive man shortly before 2 o'clock this morning. The train proceeded very slowly, men standing in the engine cab and on the car platform to watch for the dead body they all expected to see.

much alive man shortly before 2 o'clock this morning. The train proceeded very slowly, men standing in the engine cab and on the car platform to watch for the dead body they all expected to see. Jennings was found a few miles from Quinton. He was fast asleep, and when Mr. Hudspeth awoke him he neither knew where he was or how he had come to be there. He was gently informed that he had fallen from the train, and was greatly surprised. He felt himself, and found a small bump on the back of his head. There was no other injury, and Jennings was brought back on the special. Several friends greeted him at the station. "I'm just as alive as you are," he said, and left without more ado.

ALLEGED MURDERER CAUGHT IN BRISTOL

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Bristol, Va., July 23.—Harry Lewis, alias Harry Smith, the sixteen-year-old boy, wanted for the murder of Henry F. Zachery, an aged citizen at Roanoke, July 17, was captured here to-day, and is being held in the city jail pending the arrival of Roanoke Officers. He admitted his identity, and that he was with Zachery constantly for a few days before the murder and up to a few hours of the tragedy, but failed when

BANDIT KILLS MAN WHO DEFIES HIM

$2,800 Carried by Mine Officials Saved From Robbery.

Kittanning, Pa., July 23.—A masked highwayman shot and instantly killed Morton Craig, an office employe of the Winthrop Coal Company, near here, to-day, after being refused in an attempt to secure $2,800 in cash carried by Craig's two companions.

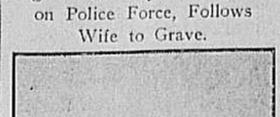

State constabulary are in pursuit of the bandit. The attempted hold-up and killing took place in a lonely spot near Pendleton, a mining settlement. Craig and an office mate drove to Lawnsenham, where they met Superintendent F. M. Brown, of the company mines, who carried with him $2,800 in currency in a satchel. Superintendent Brown and one of the guards started toward the mines, followed by Craig in a light buggy.

As they neared the mines and were ascending a steep hill they were suddenly confronted by a masked man, who ordered them to stop. Craig instantly whipped out his revolver. Before he could fire he was shot dead by the highwayman, who then fled.

State constabulary who happened to be in the district immediately took up the pursuit of the bandit, and are reported to have surrounded him in an abandoned coal mine near this place. A capture is expected momentarily.

POPULAR OFFICER ANSWERS CALL

Sergeant Robert J. Brooks, Long on Police Force, Follows Wife to Grave.

SERGEANT R. J. BROOKS.

With the passing of Sergeant Robert J. Brooks, of the Second Police District, who died at 12:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Luke's Hospital, the Richmond Police Department loses one of its most notable figures. He had achieved fame not only for his efficient work as a police officer, but for his kindly disposition. More than any man on the force, he was liked and known of all. He was always on the subscription committee of the Police Benevolent Association, and where others could get only a few hundred dollars he got thousands. Once he even received a check for $50 from Egypt.

Sergeant Brooks had been ill several months. His wife died in the same hospital about two months ago, and her death probably hastened his end. He was born and reared in Hanover county, and at the age of eighteen enlisted in the Fifteenth Regiment, Virginia Volunteers, in 1864. After the Confederate War he came to Richmond, and obtained employment with the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway. He was Deputy City Sergeant in 1870, under Thomas H. Dudley, and was appointed to the police force in 1873. He was appointed Acting Sergeant in 1883 by Major Poe, and elected full sergeant September 1, 1885, by the Police Board.

In his younger years he was one of the most active men on the force, and made several notable arrests. Among the notorious criminals he succeeded in capturing were Dollard and West, the Norfolk jewelry robbers; Clark, Haley and Fox, safe-blowers; and Charles Shaw, safe-blower and burglar. The latter shot Sergeant Brooks through the abdomen while resisting arrest in the Byrd Street Station, and escaped, but was afterwards captured.

The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning from the First Baptist Church. The pall-bearers are: Honorary—L. Z. Morris, E. J. Eicher, Captain G. W. Epps, Major Louis Werner, A. D. Landierkin, James N. Boyd, Dr. C. W. Brock, Dr. Stuart McGuire, James R. Shepard, W. S. Forbes, C. Manning, Jr.

Active—C. H. Hogan, Howard Jenkins, E. J. McCarthy, J. A. Purdie, C. B. Moss, A. W. Patterson, Basil M. Gwathmey, A. C. Strickland.

VALUES WHISKERS AT $500

Bruno Newkirk Sues Friends Who Played Practical Joke.

New York, July 23.—Legal machinery has been set in motion at Paterson, N. J., to determine whether Bruno Newkirk's whiskers are worth $500. Newkirk had been proud of his handsome adornment for forty years, and when two of his companions, in a spirit of play, clipped off the whiskers, Newkirk consulted his lawyer, and then sued for $500 damages.

All Paterson is eagerly awaiting a judicial determination of what a man's whiskers are worth.
